Working Student (m/f/x) Assistant Agile Project Manager

You like to work in dynamic environment, support others in learning and you never say no to a new challenge? Then we see you as new member of our Agile Project Management team at XING!

In your daily work you will support several agile software development teams and their project managers in reaching the goals and continuously improving processes.

A challenging task

- You work on implementing agile practices in internal teams together with Agile Project Manager.
- You participate in preparation and facilitation of workshops, meetings and team offsites.
- You act as a team knowledge treasurer by capturing key information and by creating valuable materials.
- You provide the team and stakeholders with data on progress by doing data analysis.

- You propose and bring to life ideas how to keep team spirit high.
- And while doing all that, you are gaining knowledge and experience which prepares you to take the leading role in agile team in future.

A convincing background

- You study in a field of business, computer science or psychology and you are technology enthusiast.
- You are fast learner with good organizational and communication skills.
- You are practical and solution oriented: you enjoy in getting things done.
- You can speak and write in English fluently and you enjoy working in international environment- we speak English in our daily work and we are proud to have international teams.

An inspiring environment

XING offers a dynamic environment located in the centre of Hamburg. As well as flexible working hours, you'll have an opportunity to acquire new skills. Your ideas will be taken seriously and you'll have plenty of scope to branch out on your own. We also provide free drinks and organic fruit as well as a Proficard public transport ticket and restaurant vouchers.
